CFG Community Bank Opens Annapolis Lending Office

BALTIMORE, MD (January 5, 2015) – CFG Community Bank today announced the opening of a new loan production office to further serve the Annapolis and Anne Arundel County markets. The new office is located at 888 Bestgate Road in Annapolis and will focus on serving small to mid-size commercial loan needs for businesses in Anne Arundel and surrounding counties. The loan production office will be in addition to the full service branch that the bank currently operates at 1419 Forest Drive.

The new office will be led by J.D. Zachry, a Severna Park resident with over 15 years of banking and lending experience in the Annapolis and Baltimore markets. Mr. Zachry is a graduate of the Franklin P. Perdue school of Business at Salisbury State University and is active in many business and civic organizations in the Annapolis area. He is a member of the Anne Arundel Community College Foundation Board of Directors and serves as a panel member for the Annapolis Economic Development Corporation's Entrepreneurs program.

"We are very excited to have J.D. lead our lending efforts in the greater Annapolis area. He brings a strong combination of banking experience and strong community ties to our franchise," said Mark Keidel, CFG Community Bank President and CEO. "We are confident our new lending office will be a strong financial partner to the Annapolis business community under JD's leadership."

"My team and I are thrilled to be a part of an organization that shares the same goal of making the customers' needs the top priority. We both believe that making it easy on the customer betters their business, resulting in an improved community," said Mr. Zachry.

J.D. brings with him a talented commercial team that has worked closely together for several years in the Annapolis and Anne Arundel County market. Francesca Capuano, David Dammeyer, and Megan Sroka each share in the excitement of partnering with an organization that believes in the same goals and vision.
